PLANS TO IMPROVE

MRS. MABEL L. TIGHT TO IMPROVE HER TRACT EAST OF VERDUGO ROAD VERY SHORTLY

Water on a subdivision is as great a boon as water on the desert. Without a water supply that large and picturesque tract of ground that lies uphill to the east of Verdugo road and farther up the hill than the well-known Woodberry tract, has lain unimproved for quite a long time. The land is owned by Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, of 423 W. Third street, who is a considerable property holder in this district.

Mrs. Tight owns the easterly section of Block 85 in what has been known as Watts subdivision. The tract consists of some 30 odd acres. Mr. Woodberry owns the westerly half. Anyone walking or driving in a northerly direction along Verdugo road cannot fail to notice the old reservoir of the Verdugo Pipe and Reservoir company. The water from this reservoir is now to be piped and pumped uphill and the Tight property, which has been lying idle for 30 years, will in all probability be subdivided and improved and put on the market within a very short time.

It would be difficult to imagine a more picturesque site for improvement than this property that occupies so commanding a position on the hills to the east of Verdugo road. By walking up the road that diverges from Verdugo road, just at the Kalem company's property and ascends the hill through that property in a northeasterly direction one is brought to the Woodberry property, where Mr. Woodberry has been making some profitable improvements.

Beyond that again there is a level stretch of ground that leads to an extensive apiary. The hum of thousands of bees makes the air harmonious with sweet sound. At that point the ground rises in a considerable slope and leads to a kind of table land that should lend itself effective to skilled treatment. One can easily imagine this enchanting view, carpeted with grass and adorned with flowers and redolent with the breath of Southern California beauty.

In this work of transformation the pumping of the water to the site will play the part of the good fairy. A tank is to be erected on the highest point on the Tight hill and to that point the water will be pumped by an automatic electric motor and pump, with lifting capacity of 80 pounds. This will be ample to supply all the needs of the Tight Tract and to supply also the Kalem tract with the water it has so much needed. The city is making arrangements now for carrying out this work.

It does not need much imagination to look forward to a time in the near future when this picturesque site will be improved and dotted with charming villas and residences of all kinds. It will be in the country and yet within easy reach of both Glendale and Los Angeles.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE ELECTIONS

Elections for members to fill the vacancies in the Boards of Trustees, for the High School and also for the Grammar schools of Glendale, will be held Friday, April 7, at the High School, in the Household Arts building. The polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. All voters registered since Jan. 1 and prior to March 8 are eligible for voting. The election officers for both elections—High School and Grammar schools—are: L. A. Royce, Mrs. Cora M. Nichols and Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord.

The only candidate mentioned in connection with the Grammar schools election is Mrs. Charles H. Toll, but others may be nominated. In the case of the High School Board of Trustees, Mr. C. O. Pulliam has been nominated to succeed himself, and Mr. W. F. Rice of Eagle Rock has been nominated to succeed Mr. C. W. Young of Eagle Rock. The High School board consists of one trustee from Tropico, one from North Glendale, one from Eagle Rock and two from Glendale. The present members are, Daniel Campbell from North Glendale, Irving H. Oliver from Tropico, C. W. Young from Eagle Rock, Dr. A. L. Bryant and C. O. Pulliam from Glendale.

SPRING SCHOOL VACATION

The Boards of Trustees for both the High School and the Grammar schools have set the regular Spring vacation for the week beginning Monday, April 17, and ending Friday, April 21. This is the week just preceding Easter Day, which gives opportunity to all who wish to attend the religious services of Easter week.

"TEEN AGE" BANQUET

TWO HUNDRED WILL GATHER AT CONFERENCE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ON SATURDAY

The Older Boys' and Girls' Conference, which opens Saturday at the First Methodist and Presbyterian churches will be the first of the kind ever held in this county and the second to be held in California. The aim and purpose of the Conference is to bring before the "teen age" boys and girls their responsibility in the development of Sunday School work, and in the development of their own lives in Christian service. The theme throughout all sessions of the Conference will be "Others."

Some of the papers to be presented and discussed are: "Boys: Their Value to the Sunday School;" "Why Older Boys and Girls Do Not Attend Sunday School;" "Am I My Sister's Keeper?" "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" "How to Keep the Teen Age Boy in Sunday School;" "Why Some Girls Do Not Attend Sunday School;" "The Ideal Sunday School Teacher;" "Why Organize Sunday School Classes."

Saturday morning, at the Methodist church, Miss Blanche Wachob of Los Angeles will speak at the Girls' Conference on "The Girl Worth While," and in the afternoon Mrs. H. M. Dowling, of the County Sunday School association will address both boys and girls at the Presbyterian church.

The Program committee has been especially fortunate in securing Mr. J. F. Warren to give the Saturday evening address. Mr. Warren is chairman of the Executive Board of the State Sunday School association and a prominent worker in all Sunday School and Y. M. C. A. work.

Special music throughout Saturday's program will be rendered by Miss Marion Addison, Miss Dorothy Hobbs, the Marple brothers, Mr. E. J. Ruenitz, Elizabeth Mottern and Frank Churchill. At 6:30 a banquet will be served by the Presbyterian ladies. This is for all delegates, Sunday School workers, pastors, Sunday School superintendents, visiting speakers and teachers of the "teen-age" classes of this District, which comprises eighteen churches of Burbank, Eagle Rock, Tropico and Glendale. At this feasting time, the Presbyterian orchestra will render choice selections and Prof. Howe will preside as toastmaster.

READING CIRCLE FOR MOTHERS

The Reading Circle for Mothers, in connection with the Home Education Department of the U. S. Bureau of Education, met as usual on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Toll, 1635 Kenneth Road, North Glendale. Thirty ladies were in attendance, and listened with deep interest to the continuation of the reading of "Misunderstood Children," by Elizabeth Harrison. Mrs. O. H. Ormsby gave a review of a portion of "Mottoes and Commentaries of Mother Play" by Froebel, and Mrs. T. W. Sampson reviewed the first portion of "The Education of Man," by Froebel.

The County Free Library, through its branch at Casa Verdugo in charge of Mr. O. C. Logan, has assured the circle of its desire to furnish educational lines, and sent these out for circulation to associations interested in the course of reading. There will be no difficulty in securing all the books in the course, as was at first feared.

Since there will doubtless be new circles formed in different localities, it has been thought best to choose a distinctive name for this circle. The one selected is the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, which proved the favorite, as it carries with it the thought that the discussions that arise following the readings are of great help to all.

New members this week are: Mrs. John H. Foley of Los Angeles, Mrs. Julius Kranz, Mrs. O. C. Logan, Mrs. Ernest McConnell and Mrs. L. Oliver.

EVANGELIST ON "LOVE"

The Rev. W. R. Barth of Chicago, who is engaged in evangelistic work on the Pacific coast in connection with the Congregational churches, gave a powerful and effective address, Wednesday night, at the First Congregational church. He took for his subject Paul's wonderful chapter of "Love," 1 Cor. XIII. He insisted that what the modern church needs is not so much theology as the living spirit of religion. Love is the fulfilling of the law. The speaker insisted also that the story of the gospel should be told in the language of simplicity in which Christ himself presented it.

IRELAND ON NEGLECT

TODD LEADS ENTHUSIASTIC SINGING AT THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The service last evening at the First Methodist church was full of deep earnestness. The opening song service under the leadership of Mr. Todd was spirited and enthusiastic. Mr. Todd has captured the people by his genial ways and leadership. His solo work is full of inspiration.

Evangelist Ireland was in good spirits and entered into the meeting with his wonted zeal and energy. His subject was "Neglect." "Write your reasons down for neglecting to be a Christian, sign your name to them and see if you are satisfied with them. It does not take effort to go down hill. All you have to do is to be a floater. But hear me! Heaven is not populated with floaters. Character is not made by floating. Driftwood floats, but it only shows the destiny of wreckage. You will cross the threshold of this church either better or worse. You cannot escape your obligation to Christ by neglect. You say you did not ask to be here and therefore are not responsible. You are not responsible for being hungry, but you do not neglect your stomach. If you do nothing for which you are not responsible you will not drink a glass of water or eat a beefsteak. Be consistent."

Mr. Cole will help in the music this evening by singing a solo. Mr. Todd will also sing. The morning services have been inspiring. They are held at 10 o'clock.

HONOR MISSES WEILER

One of the most delightful social events of the week was the pretty dancing party with which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Griffin entertained at G. A. R. hall, Wednesday evening, complimenting their neices, Miss Emma Lee Weiler and Miss Melba Weiler, who but recently arrived from Tennessee, and Mr. Donald Warren of Colombia, City, Indiana, who is a guest of the Weiler home, on Dayton Court.

The banquet hall, where dainty refreshments were served, was prettily decorated in myriads of fragrant roses. Pink Maman Cochet roses were arranged in bowls on the tables, while long sprays of yellow sweet brier roses were arranged on the damask. Those who were invited to meet the Misses Weiler and Mr. Warren were Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Mel H. Weiler, Mrs. John A. Logan, Mrs. John Hobbs, Mrs. William A. Hough, Misses Blanche Shea, Mary Logan, Amy Miller, Gladys Hamilton, Mary Jane Evans Hough, Dorothy Hobbs, Eunice Jones, Essie Hamilton, Katherine Hobbs and Esther Jones; Messrs. GLENDALE BOOK STORE

C. H. BOTT REMOVES HIS BUSINESS TO THE SPACIOUS PREMISES AT 413 BRAND

After a successful business career at 413 Broadway, where he did a large and increasing trade, C. H. Bott, proprietor of the Glendale Book Store, has yielded to the demands of the growing city and moved to more commodious quarters at 413 Brand boulevard. In his new premises Mr. Bott will be able to take care of the developments that have been taking place in his business.

In particular he has been developing a very large and popular traffic in pictures and picture-framing. In the new store a large and well-lighted room at the rear makes it possible to display to advantage more than 280 styles of picture molding. The people of Glendale have taken advantage of this department to get their work done here instead of taking it to the city, as they get just as good material and their work finished in a workmanlike manner, at rates that are cheaper.

Another department in the new store is the kodak line. In the Glendale Book Store there is every means of supplying the public with whatever it wants in the matter of kodak supplies. The work of kodak finishing will also be pursued and in respect of excellence of work and reasonableness of prices this store will be able to compete on favorable terms with any establishment in Los Angeles.

Apart from picture-framing the store does a large business in the sale of pictures of all kinds—photogravures, engravings, pastels and prints of all kinds.

In the department of stationery a large stock, ranging from the cheapest of white stock to the most expensive of art paper, is on display. In spite of the blow the war has given to the manufacture of colored papers there is to be seen here a varied assortment to suit all tastes. It is a great convenience to the Glendale public to find it possible to have rubber stamps supplied to them on short notice, as is the case with that department of this store.

The Glendale Book store makes a speciality of cards of all kinds, handling in particular the popular Gardner-Thompson handpainted cards, the A. M. Davis Quality cards and many others.

In the school department the store shows a large assortment of all manner of school and instruction books, with lawn-tennis racquets, baseball goods and other material for school sports. In every way this is one of the best equipped stores in this city and in its new location should find still further increase of its already large clientele.

Miss Sara E. Pollard has associated herself with the new store and has an office there, where she is prepared for all manner of typewriting, stenographic and public notary work. This has already proved a matter of convenience to the patrons of the store.

MEETING OF X. V. I. CLUB

It is expected that there will be a very pleasant and successful gathering, when the X. V. I. club meets at the home of Mrs. Elijah Zerr, 413 Cedar street, Saturday afternoon. This club is an active and prosperous sewing association. It was founded four years ago and has done a great deal of excellent work during that time.

SIAM'S NEW RAILWAY

The young King of Siam, having been educated in his university days to "Western ways" of progress, is doing everything in his power to improve conditions and develop his realm, especially along industrial lines. Owing to his aggressive leadership, the new railway, the Siamese Southern, now has 390 miles open for traffic, of which 120 miles were finished during the last year.

The total length of the line, including branches, will be 740 miles, leaving 350 miles still to be built. When completed the road will shorten the time required for mail to reach Siam from Europe by three or four days, and the journey from Penang to Bangkok, the capital of the country, which now consumes six or eight days on the water, will take two and one-half days.

$85 INSTEAD OF $100

From May, 1912, to July, 1914, the city paid W. E. Evans, city attorney, a salary of $85.00 per month instead of $100 per month, as published in the Evening News [illegible] day of this week.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1916

EFFECT OF WAR ON PRICES

There is scarcely a department of human activity all over the world that is not affected by the war in Europe. So closely is the world allied through commerce nowadays that it is impossible for the most strictly neutral nation to escape the effect of the belligerency of others. W. E. Hewitt, proprietor of the Glendale laundry called attention in the Glendale Evening News, Wednesday, to the manner in which the war in Europe has affected his business and showed how bluing, soap, paper, twine, gasoline, and other expenses of that business have been increased in price. It is possible that the war in Europe may yet affect the style of collar that America wears.

It is certainly affecting the price of shoes. There has been a rapid advance in the cost of the raw material of the shoe trade as a result of the war. The raw material is getting more scarce every day. Many of the wholesale manufacturers have not been able to buy more than half the amount they need. Imports of calf skin have decreased 55 per cent and exports have increased 100 per cent.

Total exports of leather and tanned skins increased heavily last year while imports of cattle hides have decreased. As a result women's shoe soles have increased 50 per cent in cost and men's 33 1-3 per cent. Some vici-kid is being sold at 75 cents a square foot.

Even shoe laces have advanced 300 per cent.

This unprecendented situation is caused by the enormous demands of the warring nations for soldiers' shoes. Think of the 25,000,000 in the field and the wear and tear of their shoe leather so much greater than that of peaceful days! Again the supplies of leather that used to come from Germany and Servia have been entirely shut off. Britain also has placed an embargo on all leathers of the first and second grades from her colonial dominions. The situation in the Mediterranean, which is practically a "mare clausum" at present has cut off a great deal of the Indian trade. It is likely that the situation will get worse for some time to come and America will have to pay more for its shoes.

PROGRESS OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

During the past ten days everything seems to have been subordinated to the fighting on the western front where the German forces of the crown prince's army strongly reinforced have been striving to break through Gen. Petain's defense of the Verdun region. The attempts up to this point have failed. There is, however no sign that they are to be brought to an end. To cease their attacks without having accomplished their objective would be to confess defeat. Such a confession would go far to place the war in another phase from that which it has been exhibiting to the world for some time.

There is in fact a strong necessity for some kind of an accomplishment on the part of the Germans otherwise there is going to be great trouble at home. The Teutons have been wonderfully loyal to their government up to this point and have made enormous sacrifices for it; but failure after all the years of preparation that Germany gave to the creation of what the military section thought was an irresistible force would be the signal for a national protest against the present government. That, at least, is what competent European authorities say the Kaiser fears. Hence the frantic attempts to break the iron ring at Verdun.

The Germans are credited with having 400,000 men in the Verdun region. This immense army has been hurled again and again on the French trenches without effect. The mere capturing of a trench here and there and losing it again can have no effect on the ultimate outcome of the campaign. Gen. Petain, the French commander of the Verdun defense is credited with a determination to permit the Germans to spend their forces in this lavish manner as long as they will and at the same time to keep up an artillery fire on them day and night. Apparently he has succeeded thus far in his strategy.

Two significant events of the past two days may be noted. One is the massing by Holland of all its troops on the German frontier. This the responsible ministers of Holland say is a precaution against Teuton aggression. It is well known that Germany is anxious to get the Dutch seaports as a base against Britain. Holland is determined to prevent this invasion of her territory which would share the fate of Belgium. What effect this mobilization may have on German policy is uncertain; but from what the Dutch say there is no doubt in their minds that Germany was contemplating a move through Holland to the seacoast.

Another matter of significance is Imperial Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's declaration in the reichstag that Germany has already offered peace and is willing to do so again but that the allies would not listen. This utterance is likely to have the very opposite effect of what was intended. The allies will inevitably construe it as a sign of weakness and of weakening. So will all the neutrals. The allies will pay little attention to it. Britain has already made preparations financially for another year of the war and that is the very thing that Germany cannot stand.

Roumania is on the eve of joining the allies which cannot fail to have a very definite effect on the outcome of the war in the far east. On the western front the British have taken over a long section of the defense from the French and thus have permitted the sending of large bodies of French troops to the defense of Verdun. By this time it should be possible for the British to send to the front a large number of the army raised by Lord Derby, which now amounts to some 4,000,000 men.

Meantime the German submarine campaign goes on relentlessly day after day and the British appear not yet to have devised adequate means to control it. It was possible to catch the old type of Teuton submarine in the nets and by other means but the large new submarines seem to be able to evade them. Still it is only a [illegible] of a little time before means will be devised to catch the [illegible] powerful and destructive type of Teuton submarine.

Mrs. Glen Craig and daughter, Mary Pauline Craig, of Custiac, have been the guests of Mrs. Craig's mother, Mrs. William Hough, of Tenth street.

Miss Hunsberger, sister of Daniel Hunsberger, 715 W. Third street, who has been resident with her relatives here during the past six months, left Wednesday morning for her home in Reading, Pa.

Mrs. B. Sherman, who has been a visitor at the home of her son, Mr. C. W. Sherman, of 330 N. Kenwood street, during the past five months, left Gledale Wednesday morning, to return to her own home in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary Mandery of Pioneer Drive, with Mrs. Arthur D. Cross, and Mrs. Oliver Clark, were the special guests of the Woman's club of Whittier, Wednesday, motoring to Whittier as the guests of Mrs. Clark. The visit to the club was of special interest to Mrs. Mandery, as she is a charter member of the Whittier club, which organized twelve years ago.

Mrs. A. T. Snow, of Athens-on-the-hill, is a luncheon guest today at the home of Mrs. A. M. Hunt, 1201 Viola street.

Mr. David Black, of Kenneth road, was in Ontario, Cal., Wednesday night. There he delivered an address to a large company of Sabbath School workers on the subject of Sabbath Schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wouters, of 1519 N. Central avenue, returned home Wednesday from a pleasant trip of several days, during which they visited San Diego and its vicinity. Mr. Wouters is of the opinion that notwithstanding all that has been said about the equability of the climate of San Diego, that it is not equal to the climate of the Glendale Foothills. While in the Southern city the Wouters' party visited the Theosophical establishment on Point Loma and met their own former guest, Senator La Fontaine of Belgium, who is in the United States in the interests of world peace. At present the senator is the guest of Madame Tingley. The party also visited Tia Juana, the Mexican border town, where great activity is being displayed in rebuilding the race course, which was destroyed by the floods. Mr. Wouters says that the weather in San Diego was pleasant, but that there were few visitors and a very slim attendance at the Exposition.

Mrs. C. J. Roberts of Los Angeles was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith, 1641 Stocker street, the first of this week.

Mr. Highbrow (of Indianapolis)—Are you fond of ethnology, Miss Brushwood?

TROPICO

Mrs. Robert Danner celebrated the birthday anniversary of her great aunt, Mrs. Emma Phelan, of Lynwood, at her home on Gardena avenue, Tuesday. White roses arranged in a low cut bowl graced the table, at which a course dinner was served, to commemorate the 78th anniversary of the dear old aunt, who thoroughly appreciated the honor that the gracious hostess and guests bestowed upon her.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Martin and family,, Mrs. Mary Chadwick and Miss Florence Chadwick, with Mr. and Mrs. Danner and family, thus contributed to the pleasure of Mrs. Phelan.

A. W. Collins of North Central avenue left for San Francisco Thursday evening on a few days' business trip.

Mrs. W. E. Burke entertained the Tropico Auction Bridge club at her home, 525 North Central avenue, Tuesday, with a daintily arranged luncheon. Pink roses arranged with ferns formed the pretty centerpiece of the lunch table, at which were seated with the hostess Mrs. Charles A. Barker, Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, Mrs. Emil F. Tholen, Mrs. Stuart M. Street, Mrs. Charles M. Turck, Mrs. A. L. Bancroft of Tropico and Mrs. T. W. T. Richards of Los Angeles. Auction bridge followed the luncheon at which Mrs. Leigh Bancroft scored for the prize.

After a delightful visit of four months with relatives and friends in Walnut, Kansas, Mrs. Mary Chadwick and daughter, Miss Florence Chadwick, have returned to Tropico and are visiting alternately with Mrs. Chadwick's daughters, Mrs. Robert Danner and family of Gardena avenut and Mrs. G. E. Martin and family of South San Fernando boulevard.

J. C. SHERER FOR CITY CLERK

Mr. Sherer is a candidate for re-election as City Clerk. When he was a candidate for the first time two years ago, he claimed to have more knowledge of the duties of the office than the average man on the outside, because of his close association with the city government from the time of its formation, principally through his connection with the Glendale News, which business required him to keep in close touch with all city affairs. He did find this knowledge considerable help in taking hold of the business of the Clerk's office, but says he has since discovered that he really knew very little about its manifold duties. He does claim now, however, to be thoroughly familiar with the work of the position, a familiarity which cannot possibly be acquired by anyone short of several months incumbency of the office, and not then with thoroughness unless he is also familiar with the city's history and is more or less intimate with the various subjects which come up from time to time, quite oueside the daily routine of the office. His long residence in this valley has necessarily made Mr. Sherer familiar with many phases of its development, which naturally is not the case with any one who was not here when the city was born, or before. Succeeding in office a gentleman who had given several years of valuable service to the city, Mr. Sherer declared at the time of his election that he had no expectation of "reforming" things in the Clerk's office. But there have been a number of changes inaugurated, however, made necessary by the general growth of the city's business and by the general installation in the various departments at the city hall of an up-to-date bookkeeping system. This system makes it very easy to trace any expenditure of city money and give all the details of the transaction. And it may not be amiss to say here that the Clerk's office has never withheld any information on file there which any citizen asked for, but has always cheerfully produced it regardless of the inquirer's motive.

The giving out of information in regard to city affairs is one of the principal duties of the City Clerk and has always been so regarded by the present incumbent; this policy will be followed out consistently as long as Mr. Sherer remains in the office. The present city clerk attends personally to several details of the office work which did not devolve upon his predecessor and to do this is required to put in longer hours of service daily than when he came into the office. These services have been assumed voluntarily, as Mr. Sherer is not a man who shirks work or responsibility. The old saying about swapping horses while crossing a stream applies very forcibly to the present occupant of the City Clerk's office; he is the right man in the right place.

G. B. WOODBERRY'S QUALIFICATIONS

G. B. Woodberry, candidate for the position of Trustee in the present campaign, is well known to those of our citizens who were living in the valley at the time of the incorporation of Glendale in 1906 as a city of the sixth class. As the census at that time showed our numerical strength to be only a little over 1300, it follows that the balance of our present 6000 population have come to Glendale since that time and to such of these as may be unacquainted with Mr. Woodberry we wish to say a few words regarding his record.

He came to what is now Glendale in 1884, when the valley products were chiefly sage brush and jackrabbits. In 1886 the Verdugo Canyon Water Co. was in want of a superintendent and gave the position to him, the duties connected therewith were to care for the water belonging to the people of the valley and make an equable division of the same to the different parts of the valley where the local owners had distributing systems. In the beginning this distribution was largely a matter of guess work and judgment and very different from the automatic division system now employed.

About 1901 Mr. Woodberry was elected secretary of the same corporation and now holds the combined positions, being in uninterrupted service 30 years this month, during which time the water of the valley supplied from Verdugo Canyon has been under his charge. As the Verdugo Canyon Water Co. is a mutual corporation and has usually had a change in its directorate each year, it follows that Mr. Woodberry must have given good service to be so long retained.

In 1906 the citizens who were responsible for the movement to incorate Glendale selected Mr. Woodberry as the first city clerk, and he held the position until 1914, at which time he refused to be a candidate for re-election. For his record there we would refer to the various auditor's reports on city affairs and those citizens who served as trustees during his term as clerk.

From the foregoing it may be seen that this candidate has had experience along two lines, which experience should be of value to both himself and to the city if he be elected, viz.: Long familiarity with water conditions in Verdugo Canyon, embracing both flood and supply phases of these two important matters, and an intimate knowledge of the working of the city government obtained while serving as clerk of the Board of Trustees.

If elected to the office of Trustee this candidate will endeavor to represent all parts of the city as impartially as may be possible and will favor strict economy in the administration of city affairs. This does not mean that he will countenance a policy of parsimony which would result in blocking the wheels of progress.

CITIZENS' WELFARE ASS'N'
C. J. WOLFE, Secretary.

VOTERS OF GLENDALE

We are living in a progressive age. The time was when education was limited. Then man took first place in all government. Soon woman realized her capacity to stand on a par with man. She educated herself, and briefly stated, has fitted herself for any position or duty in public life. And why not?

That query is settled. Woman is at hand prepared to serve in almost any position, with credit and satisfaction.

One of this kind is named for City Clerk in our beautiful, progressive city. Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord, if elected, will devote full time to the office, and we believe she is capable of filling the duties of that responsible position with credit and ability. She held the office of president of the W. C. T. U. for seven years, still holds State and County offices in that organization. She is a conscientious and consistent Christian.

We believe our citizens will make no mistake in electing Mrs. Gaylord our next City Clerk, and therefore bespeak for her the votes and assistance of all unprejudiced and law-abiding citizens.

G. W. JOHNSON.

THE SLANDERERS OF THE CITY

Why is it that some people seem to have an inclination at all times to find an excuse for saying ugly things about their city government?

Nobody doubts the propriety of sound criticism. Nobody doubts the propriety of caustic denunciation if the facts justify the attack. But sound or justifiable criticism is not the kind that is always the most prevalent.

If the "nasty" things uttered by some people were the outgrowth of realities within the lines of the municipal government, there would be good reason for praising those who make the exposure. But when persons deliberately make statements which they know to be false; when they plunge into other statements which they have not previously verified—they do their community a fearful injury. Every time they ruthlessly malign their municipal government they stab the reputation of the city in which they live.

There are persons of this malicious type in every city. They trot around the town making speeches, or they fill columns of newspapers with effusions of their brain—much of which shows a lamentable ignorance as to the facts or a reprehensible disregard of the truth. They seem to think that all they have to do is to make a lunge at the city government and they will appear heroic in the public eye.

It is strange how some persons will indulge in reckless statements about matters of municipal concern. As a matter of caution they would not dare do the same if the object of attack were a private one.

It is the consciousness of irresponsibility which seems to loosen up some tongues and to give extra nimbleness to some pens. Could the tongue or pen be made to feel that malice or false utterance would be likely to tumble the guilty one into court, there would be far less ugliness of statement and far less straining in the direction of deception.

It is so easy to be semi-sensational before people who are ignorant of the facts or who are so indifferent in their habits that they do not bother about facts.

Many will accept it as true simply because there is no specific denial leveled against it. The silence of city officials is ofttimes construed as an admission of truth. As a matter of fact, if the officials were to spend their time contradicting half of the inaccuracies uttered about them and their work, they would have no time left to devote to their public duties.

A liar, be he big or little; be he prominent or obscure; be he an official figure or a private citizen; be he a designing demagogue or a stupid ignoramus, is a public enemy in the fullest sense of the term.

The municipal government is yours. When it is in error criticise it justly. Use your influence to correct its mistakes. Point out ways and means for improvement. But above all things, remember it is yours, and, in remembering it is yours, be generous and manly enough to play fair with it, to speak honestly of it.—Baltimore Municipal Journal.

OBITUARY

(Contributed)

Jacob S. Van Why was born in Smithfield, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, July 19, 1839, died March 31st, 1916, at the age of 76 years, 8 months.

His youth was spent on his father's farm and in 1862, at the age of 23 years, he answered the call to arms and enlisted in Company F, 3rd Regiment Pennsylvania Artillery, and served through the war, being mustered out of the service in October, 1865. On November 19 of the same year he was married to Susanah Ebaugh, and they continued to reside in Pennsylvania until 1886, at which time they removed to Indiana.

Eleven years ago, in 1905, they came to California, and in this hospitable climate found an ideal home for their declining years. On the 19th of last November they celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage, an event to which they had both long looked forward.

Of his father's family Jacob S. was the last survivor, as he was also the oldest in point of years, save only his mother, who reached the age of 91.

Of his 8 children 5 survive him and mourn his loss, together with their mother.

Many years ago he became a member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, and has several times occupied the chairs in that order, as well as representing his lodge at the Grand Lodge of Indiana upon several occasions. In later life he was also associated with the Independent Order of Red Men, and for long was a member of the Grand Army.

In church affiliation he was a Methodist, but for a number of years was not a regular attendant at any church, yet held firmly to his doctrinal beliefs.

He was faithful and constant and unswerving in his duties at home and among his fellows, and he leaves behind him a memory sweet with the thoughts of his gentleness, his patience under trying circumstances, his unfailing helpfulness in all that his friends needed, and his uncomplaining acceptance of all the burdens that life imposed. During his illness, although gradually growing more and more helpless, no complaint ever feil from his lips. He calmly waited for the end he knew was not far away, and as calmly went when the final call was sounded.

God rest him!
God give him peace!

BREAD LINE FOR BIRDS

The New Jersey Audubon Society made close ovservations during the past winter to determine the condition of birds. It was found that the chief cause of suffering among the feathered creatures that do not migrate south is severe storms, just as privation among human beings and animals in the cities follows periods of severe cold.

A heavy storm in sections of New Jersey where the myrtle warbler has its winter quarters often covers the bayberries, one of its favorite foods. Insects are few in winter, and the warbler has to use a substitute. To protect against such times the societies have established "bread lines" for the stormy season. A warbler can get its bayberries at the societies' counters, and then take a night's sleep at the small "municipal lodging house" on the trees.

Nor is the use of the "Bread line" confined to this species. Chickadees, titmice, finches, woodpeckers, tree sparrows, nuthatches, brown creepers, and blue jays are accommodated in times of stress. They fly to the coops of the Audubon Society for suet, birds seed, and sunflower seeds as a substitute for caterpillars and insect eggs.

FOR EMERGENCIES

The great dam at the Kensico reservoir, east of the Hudson River and thirty miles from the heart of New York, recently finished, forms an emergency storage water supply for the city. It is one of the remarkable engineering works of the year. The city uses 500,000,000 gallons every twenty-four hours, and the Kenisco reservoir, when stored to its fullest capacity, holds 38,000,000,000 gallons of drirkable water in two vast basins.

It was built to keep the city from want should anything happen to the seventy-five miles of aqueduct that reaches northward to the Catskill Mountains. That it cost $8,500,000 is not to be wondered at, since the project covers an area of 4,500 acres, and the constructional work was titanic in its proportions and difficult in its exactions. It has been in process of building since 1911.

To accomplish the end it was necessary to block an immense valley 1,800 feet across by means of a great wall 170 feet above the original ground surface. The foundations of the dam lie 140 feet below the lowest point of the valley's original surface, making a total vertical dimension of 310 feet.

THE PEOPLE

"The people do not constitute an extraneous force;" Arthur Ponsonby says, in advocating a more democratic control of foreign policy, in his book "Democracy and Diplomacy;" "they are not a party, sect, or class, but the very life . . . and essence of the nation. Through them alone can full expression be given to national sentiments and aspirations; by them alone can the mutual sympathies of a common humanity be so elevated and strengthened as to form an inviolable tie of unity between the citizens of the world."

A PARABLE

A little road went laughing
From the willows by the stream,
It ran to dust-gold distance,
Dropped, and lifted all a-gleam;
Tripped and fell into a hollow
Where it called to me to follow,
And I followed it as children do the by ways of a dream.

It spun through the shining groves
Where the feet of Spring had gone,
And it stole down to the brookside
Like a timid, thirsty fawn;
Kissed the reed-rush and thereafter
With a sort of breathless laughter
Spurned the plain and stormed the mountain like a footpath of the dawn!

So, laughing, reached the summit
By an ancient water-stair;
Poised on high as though to venture
Further journeys through the air;
And so, hov'ring, drew me even
To the outer verge of heaven,
Drew me outward to the utmost edge and left me there.

—Dana Burnet.

LA CANADA NOTES

The new bridge on Mountain street has been completed, so now there is a way to reach Earlmont by way of School street.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy have returned from their trip in Arizona. Mrs. Murphy has been confined to home on account of a severe cold, since their return home.

Mr. Speck, a prominent insurance man of Chicago, was the all-day guest of Mr. P. H. Johnson, Wednesday.

Dr. Scott will take for his sermon Sunday, "The Triumphant Christ." Let everyone attend this service.

Improvement Association

The La Canada Valley Improvement association held its meeting in the hall Saturday evening, April 1, 1916. A large number were present. The business was transacted, then Colonel John Sobeski gave an exceedingly interesting talk on the "War in Europe." Colonel Sobeski has a most pleasing manner in which he delivers his talks, and his many witty remarks kept the audience laughing continually. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson entertained Colonel John Sobeski at dinner Sunday.

Judge Sergent is remodeling his house and every thing in general is being fixed up.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will hold their regular monthly business meeting and social Friday evening, April 7, 1916, at the home of Miss Katherine Hegeman, Los Angeles. A good time is expected. Everyone cordially invited to come. Everyone be at the church by 7:00 o'clock sharp.

A number of the pupils who attend the Glendale Union High School are planning to attend the annual Oratorical contest Friday evening, April 7, 1916, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles Olsen and son attended the wonderful play by Helen Hunt Jackson, "Ramona." They declared this the most beautiful play they have ever seen.

Miss Lulu Green is spending her vacation this week at home with her parents.

"Father's Night!"

On Saturday evening, April 8, at 8 o'clock, Prof. R. D. White, Supt. of the Glendale city schools, will address the La Canada P. T. A. on "The Present Trend in Education," at the church. There will be music furnished by Miss Ina Whitaker, who has lately returned from musical study abroad, also by Mr. Wm. Metzger and others. Light refreshments will be served. Everyone urged to come. Let us manifest our interest in educational matters by attending this meeting.

Notice

The P. T. A. will be held at the church instead of the school house, as announced last week.

The people of this District will elect a school trustee, April 7, 1916. A great deal of interest has been manifested in this election and opposing factions had begun, which promised to be the most bitter fight in the political history of La Canada. A mass meeting was held at the school house Monday night for the purpose of selecting a candidate. After somewhat heated discussion the two leading candidates announced that in the interest of harmony they would withdraw from the fight. Mr. R. G. Lyans was then nominated by acclamation. More than usual interest is taken in the election of trustee at this time because of the bond election following and the probability of the erection of a new school house in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lockwood of Long Beach were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dutour of La Canada.

JAMES SMITH'S GIFT FOR COOKING

Selling his Golden Gate Cook Pamphlet on Pastry; 95 receipts of my own composition. This pamphlet gives plain and comprehensive instructions on the art of pastry making. It teaches how to secure the best results with economical and saving messes. This pamphlet contains first-class receipts for light bread, buns, snails and cinnamon rolls, cream puffs, lady fingers, macaroons, cake, pie, puddings, hot cakes, muffins, tea and plain biscuits, sweet sauce and salads.

Also James Smith's new discovery, a receipt for making a larger and a better angel cake with white of three eggs. The old standard angel cake requires from eleven to twelve eggs and skilled beating. This receipt takes the whites of three eggs only and no skill is required to make it.

The San Diego Tribune in a recent issue gave high credit to my Golden Gate Cook Pamphlet.

Pamphlet, 25c. Here until April 15, or mail 25 cents and 2-cent stamp to James Smith, 411½ Central Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

SAFETY IN ROTTERDAM

Fires are so scarce in Holland that the city of Rotterdam, with a population of more than 400,000, has practically no fire department. The numerous canals offer an ever ready supply of water to fight almost any fire that may break out. The people are also careful.

USE FOR TISSUE PAPER

Save all the tissue paper that comes into the house, says the Dallas Morning News. It is excellent for drying and polishing lamp chimneys and mirrors when they are washed.
